

Our projects will focus on providing aid to the following vulnerable groups, ensuring that those who are most at risk are given the support they need:

- Orphans who have lost their parents: These children will be provided with the necessary care, shelter, and educational opportunities to ensure they can lead fulfilling lives.
- Children with parents or family members in jail: We aim to support children who are affected by the absence of their primary caregivers, helping them cope with the challenges of growing up without parental guidance.
- Children forced into begging by exploiters or criminals: We will provide safe environments for these children, ensuring they are no longer exposed to harmful situations.
- Children from separated families or those affected by divorce: We will provide support to children who may have experienced emotional distress due to family separation, ensuring they have a stable environment for growth.
- Children facing drug abuse or vulnerabilities: Our efforts will focus on helping children who are exposed to harmful influences, guiding them toward healthier and safer lifestyles.

- Children with parents under debt: These children often face economic hardship; our shelters and food programs will ensure they are not deprived of their basic needs.
- Children with sick or hospitalized parents: These children may struggle with their own emotional well-being; we will provide support and care to help them through these difficult times.
- Children with mentally disabled parents: We recognize the unique challenges faced by these children and will provide the necessary resources for their care and development.
- Children vulnerable to sexual abuse: We will take steps to protect and rehabilitate children who are at risk of abuse, ensuring they have a safe environment to grow and thrive.
- Children facing eviction from their homes due to natural disasters or man-made crises: We will provide shelter for those displaced by disasters, helping them rebuild their lives and regain stability.
- Children involved as child laborers or coerced into work: We aim to combat child labor by providing education and vocational training to children, enabling them to break free from the cycle of poverty and exploitation.

Concept Overview

When a person is subjected to severe oppression, violence, or injustice, and there is no immediate solution available, society must provide a structured and humane response rather than ignoring the situation.

At present, victims often suffer in silence. There is no proper system that ensures their safety, dignity, or long-term rehabilitation. This gap must be addressed.

Immediate Safety and Shelter

When a victim is identified, they should be removed from danger immediately and placed in a secure environment. This includes providing:

- Safe shelter
- Food and basic necessities
- Medical treatment
- Psychological and emotional support

The victim's dignity must be protected at all times.

Long-Term Planning

The world's population is increasing rapidly, and with it, social conflicts and human rights violations are also expected to rise.

If planning is not done now, the future will face even greater crises. Therefore, a long-term solution must be developed rather than temporary fixes.

Future Vision

Within the next 100 years, the world will need structured systems that can handle large-scale human rights emergencies. This requires forward-thinking and planning today.

Initial Idea: A Dedicated City

A new concept is proposed — the development of a special city designed exclusively for human rights protection and rehabilitation. This city would function independently and would be purpose-built to support victims of oppression.

NEW IDEA FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Connected to: “Vanguard City”

1. Emergency Relocation

In extreme situations, when a person is facing serious danger, they should be relocated immediately to a secure location without unnecessary delays.

2. Victim-Centered Approach

Victims must never be abandoned.

They should be treated with care, compassion, and respect, and provided with all essential resources needed for survival and recovery.

3. Preparing for the Future

The future world will face increasing challenges related to population growth and injustice. Planning must begin now to avoid catastrophic humanitarian failures later.

4. Vanguard City (Permanent Solution)

A city named Vanguard City should be established as a permanent solution for human rights protection.

This city would:

- Be specially designed for victims
- Operate under strict ethical and legal standards
- Provide long-term living solutions

5. Regulated Entry

Only verified victims would be allowed entry.

Admissions would be limited at one time to ensure proper care, safety, and resource management.

6. Rehabilitation and Independence

Residents of Vanguard City would receive:

- Education
- Professional training
- Employment opportunities
- Mental health and medical support

The goal is to help individuals become independent, confident, and self-sufficient.

7. Law and Order

Vanguard City would maintain strict laws.

Any individual who commits serious crimes, violence, or oppression within the city would be immediately removed.

---

8. Protection from Forced Return

No victim would ever be sent back to a place where their life, dignity, or safety is at risk.

9. Complete Administrative System

The city would include:

- Police and security services
- Courts and legal systems
- Schools and universities
- Hospitals and medical centers

- Government and administrative offices

This ensures a fully functional and just society.

10. Purpose of Vanguard City

Vanguard City is not a jail and not a refugee camp.

It is a model city built on human rights, dignity, safety, and rehabilitation.

11. Conclusion

Vanguard City represents hope — a place where humanity comes first, and where victims are given a real chance to rebuild their lives with dignity and security.
